

DISCLAIMER

The information presented here is not designed for use in the preparation of the state interpreter examination. The materials and concepts presented on this website and in the interpreter continuing education classes are for interpreter continuing education only and they are not to be construed as legal, medical, tax, or economic advice, or as a course in law.